Ever wondered how stars like Keira Knightley, SIENNA MILLER, Teri Hatcher, Lindsay Lohan, Misha Barton and Nicole Ritchie and more look so radiant at the Oscars? They've all been lucky enough to have the MILLION DOLLAR FACIAL

More Help at Hand

More newsworthy developments at Natura Bissé include a unique line of products designed to repair damaged skin, the Top Ten Cytokines line. We love this line as I have to admit I haven't protected my skin enough from the harsh rays of the sun and the pollution, and its beginning to show! Hopefully, this line will help. It's a unique collection of products formulated with high concentrations of Skin Growth Factor, (SGF). SGF plays a vital role in the cell renewal process, dramatically improving texture, elasticity and firmness of the skin, and has also been used extensively in the medical industry to treat wounds and facilitate faster, more complete healing by giving a major boost to collagen and elastin production.

Cytokines is a Greek term, cyto meaning cell and kinesis meaning movement, and the range is specifically designed to be used on damaged skin that has been scarred or marked by surgery; accidents or skin related illnesses, on skin that has been damaged by the sun, which is particularly relevant for people living in the gulf. The SGF compounds that are found in the Top Ten Cytokines products are naturally derived from complex proteins such as Glycoproteins and Hydrolyzed Soy proteins, and act as messengers between cells, stimulating a range of cellular activities leading to dramatic improvements in especially the texture of the skin. "The Top Ten Cytokines range should primarily be used by people suffering from any type of damaged skin, and we have so far really seen some extraordinary results, especially on skin that has been damaged by the sun," says Nayton Cutiño, Regional General Manager of Natura Bissé International. "SGFs have been used in the medical industry for some time but the use of these kinds of compounds in the cosmetics industry is relatively new, and we are proud to be one of the first skincare brands to bring these kinds of products to the Middle East." Additional ingredients of the Top Ten Cytokines products are vitamins A, C and E providing revitalizing benefits and antioxidant protection, Rosa Mosqueta oil rich in essential fatty acids that deliver pronounced healing and moisture to damaged skin, and highly refined natural collagen and elastin amino acids that penetrate to restore suppleness and hydration. The Cytokines products may be incorporated into the existing skincare regime
